Halton District
High School

Prague,
Czech Republic

What is IB? The IB Diploma Programme is designed as an academically challenging and balanced programme of education with final examinations that prepare students, normally aged 16 to 19, for success at university and life beyond. The programme is normally taught over two years and has gained recognition and respect from the world's leading universities.

Since its inception in 1968, IB World Schools have developed inquiring, knowledgeable and caring young people who help to create a better world through intercultural understanding and respect.

Why IB? The international rigor of the IB curriculum has developed an outstanding reputation among the leading undergraduate colleges and universities around the world. All Canadian universities accept the International Baccalaureate Diploma.

IB is strongly committed to the "Liberal Arts Tradition" of education, which also provides the philosophical basis for undergraduate programmes in many of the world's leading universities. IB Diploma students take subjects from each of the six groups of the IB Hexagon, as well as completing the core requirements.
