

Write with LYTE this Spring!

Got the writing bug?

Have an idea you'd love to see come to life in front of an audience?

Need some help making something good into something great?

LYTE introduces our new Spring Writing Workshops!

Submit your piece and if selected you'll be invited to attend two workshops at the Palace Theatre. We'll give you the opportunity to sharpen and edit your work with other writers through fun and helpful writing exercises, specifically developed for live theatre scripts. Your goal is to submit and polish a short play that will be given a public reading at the Western Ontario Drama League Festival on March 19th, 2011!

The Rules:

To participate in the 2011 LYTE Workshops each playwright must agree to:

- 1) Attend the public presentation of his or her work at the WODL Festival on March 19th, 2011.
- 2) Attend BOTH workshops of his or her script (specific times to be arranged).
- 3) Write a second version of their script based on workshop feedback.

The Details:

Scripts should be 5 to 10 minutes long. No partially completed scripts will be accepted.

Submissions should include full contact information, including phone number and email address, age and a 50-word bio.

Playwrights aged 10-16 years will be considered.

Each page of the script should include the title and page number.

Those accepted will be notified soon after and informed of the workshop dates.

Deadline for submissions is February 1st, 2011.
